JURY VERDICT IS AFFIRMED

GRAY AND HELPLEY MUST GO TO PENITENTIARY.

BOTH NOW IN JAIL

Will Be Taken To Jefferson City Soon To Begin Two-Year Prison Term—Frequently Before Court.

Jefferson City, Jan. 11.—"Apparently the only way to cause respect for the laws of the state, particularly the prohibition law, is to inflict punishment that hurts," Chief Justice Blair of the Missouri Supreme Court declared today in his opinion affirming the sentences of two years in the penitentiary of two men convicted at Maryville on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor.

The men, William Helpley and Harry Gray, had appealed from the Nodaway County Circuit court decision of the grounds of insufficient evidence.

"There is little room for a reasonable doubt of their guilt," Justice Blair continued, "as the circumstances of evidence clearly point that the decision was correct. Any other verdict would have been a travesty of justice. The jury is to be commended rather than to be criticized for its verdict.

Helpley and Gray were arrested by police officers after an automobile chase through the streets of Maryville and during which many bottles of the alleged liquor were thrown out of the car.

Both Harry Gray and William Helpley are in the county jail today, awaiting the arrival of a Supreme Court marshal. In compliance with a telegram from the marshal, Sheriff Lowell Campbell arrested Gray last night and Helpley today.

The two youthful offenders have figured in several escapades which resulted in their being brought to court. The case which the Supreme Court has just decided was filed October 15, 1924. It charged both transportation and possession of intoxicating liquor.

The defendants secured continuances until the January, 1925, term of court, but on January 21 the case was brought to trial and each of the youths was found guilty and sentenced to serve two years in the state penitentiary. They asked for a new trial, and when it was refused they appealed to the Supreme Court, meanwhile obtaining freedom on bond again. It has been almost a year since the appeal was taken.

In April, 1924, Gray and Helpley were charged with petit larceny. This case was tried on October 14, 1924, and Gray was found guilty, fined $50 and sentenced to serve six months in the county jail. Helpley was found not guilty. Gray asked for a new trial but it was refused and he begin serving his six months jail sentence on January 31, 1925. On June 16 he was paroled because of his mother's serious illness, but the parole was revoked not long after when the youth again got into trouble.

On two other occasions both the youths faced liquor charges brought by the city. Helpley pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve thirty days in jail on each charge. Gray also pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve thirty days on one charge and four months on the other.

Baby Dies Following Illness of Pneumonia

Genevieve Campbell, nine-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell of Parnell, died at the home of her parents about 3 o'clock yesterday morning following a seven-day illness of pneumonia. The funeral services were held at the home at 2 o'clock this afternoon and burial was in the Parnell cemetery. Mr. Campbell is the editor of the Parnell Review.

Alderman's Relative Longworth's Secretary

Miss Mildred Reeves, a grandniece of Judge Ira K. Alderman of Maryville, holds the position of secretary to Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, Speaker of the House of Representatives. She is the first woman to hold the responsible position. Miss Reeves is a granddaughter of the late A. H. Alderman, a former resident of Maryville. Her sister is assistant secretary to Senator Gillett.

Final Rites Held for Italy's Queen Mother

People of Rome and Neighboring Cities Meet in Befitting and Solemn Tribute to Margherita

Rome, Jan. 11—Italy paid its last tribute to the beloved queen mother, Margherita, today. Without feeling for color or rite, but in the spirit of Italy, the people of Rome and neighboring cities met in a befitting and solemn ceremony. The funeral train arrived this morning and the entrance into Rome of what was once the queen was met with silence so complete as to be described as "awful." The king and his sons were on foot directly behind the remains en route to the Pantheon.

It was the first time in the history of a united Italy that a king has walked thus through the streets of Rome. Ambassador Fletcher was present as the special commissioned representative of President Coolidge.

LOCAL SCHOOL MAN HONORED

LESLIE G. SOMERVILLE NAMED ON READING CIRCLE BOARD.

WILL SERVE 3 YEARS

Board Selects Best Books for Supplementary Reading for Both Teachers and Pupils.

Leslie G. Somerville, Nodaway County superintendent of schools, has received word that he has been appointed a member of the Reading circle board of the Missouri Teachers Association for a term of three years.

The reading circle board consists of five members; the president of the state association, the state superintendent of schools and three members appointed by the executive committee of the state association, one each for a term of three years.

The reading circle board selects such publications and arranges such courses of study as in their judgment may lead to the better professional equipment of the teachers of the state and to the strengthening of habits of profitable reading among the pupils of the state.

Books for supplementary reading by pupils also are approved by the reading circle board. The board has an arrangement with publishers which enables them to offer these books to teachers, schools or pupils at reduced prices.

Other members of the present board are Esther L. Knehans, Cape Girardeau; Charles A. Lee, Jefferson City, state superintendent; E. L. Hendricks, Warrensburg, president of the State Teachers Association; and B. B. Ihrig, Wheatland.

Meininger Sentences Upheld by High Court

Jefferson City, Jan. 11.—The Supreme Court in division No. 2 today affirmed the three-year and five-year sentences imposed upon Arthur O. Meininger, former cashier of the defunct Night and Day Bank at St. Louis for receiving deposits when he knew the bank was in a failing condition. Meininger was sentenced to three years for receiving a $385 deposit in December, 1921 and five years for receiving a $60 deposit the same month when he knew the bank was insolvent.

May Sidetrack Phase of Bribery in Inquiry

Understood That Former U. S. Marshall Will Waive Immunity To Go Before Grand Jury.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 11.—The sudden turn of events by which Elva McDonald, former United States marshal for Oklahoma, would not press his demand before the special federal grand jury, investigating alleged Osage Indian murders, indicated today that alleged political bribery phases of the "murders for millions" cases would be sidetracked, at least for the present, according to the attorneys and observers.

McDonald, however, was quoted, it was understood, that he would waive immunity if that would gain him entrance before the tribunal to testify regarding rumors that he an another former official were connected with an alleged payment of $10,000 to gag the Osage inquiries two years.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Harmon of Pickering are business visitors in Maryville today.

NEED SERVICE FIRST OF ALL

GRADUATES OWE SOMETHING TO WORLD, MUSGRAVE SAYS.

PAUL GREAT EXAMPLE

Gave Something To Civilization In Return For What He Had Received, Minister Tells Graduates.

"The period of graduation marks a new life; a broader and nobler life by the virtues of blessings received through educational advantages," the Rev. R. E. Musgrave, pastor of the First Christian Church, told the members of the mid-year graduating class of the Maryville High School last night at the baccalaureate services at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Musgrave used for his theme, "The Royal Highway to Greatness," and as his text, Romans 1:1., which exemplifies the life of Paul as a servant of Christ.

"The most important definition to be had," the speaker said, "is to define our own life. There are many people, who do not know their own solves. There are people living in the world utter strangers to themselves. The great need is to know our own personality. People do not often stop to think why they are and what they are. To define self is no easy task. A little time given to such matters would account for something.

"Life principles is what we need to get hold of," the Rev. Mr. Musgrave pointed out. "To know self is investment in universal knowledge of other people as all people are the same."

Emphasizing national patriotism and devotion, the speaker said it is well to be proud of one's nation as there is enough good in any nation to cover a man over with glory.

"Think of the man who gave us the Bible, think of the ancient crowns of the historical past think of the Israelites, of Moses, and other great characters of the time.

Paul Great Character.

"Paul, next to Christ, is the greatest character of the Bible. He had the highest advantage of intellectuality of his day. Paul was a man of letters and a lecturer. He was a great Apostle of Christ in cities and byways. No one without the intellectuality and scholarship could have met the problems in Antioch that Paul did.

"Leadership demands scholarship. People are paying taxes for the upkeep of the schools and schools are increasing in numbers the world over for the advancement of scholarship," the minister stated "A man may be one of the great intellectuality and scholarship, but this alone, is not enough. Use them both for world service.

Was Great Orator

"As an orator Paul fired the hearts of his hearers," the minister went on to say in exemplifying Paul as a highlight to the nineteen graduates. "The world has had very few great orators in its time, but Paul is to be counted among the greatest. I see him on Mars Hill, amidst the greatest philosophers of the time and he astounded them with his dynamic words.

"We dare not say Paul was not wealthy. I see him in all the pomp and glory his great time of sculpture, art and literature, all could bestow. Paul had all the influences of the best with comfort, yet Paul, the Jew, the Israelite, the scholar and orator, went out a servant to Christ among his fellowmen.

"Love for a lost world was the reason Paul laid down his all and went out among his fellowmen to teach love for his Christ—went forth a servant. This love, this desire, in the heart of men, prompts us to do worthwhile things," he said.

Service Is First.

"You will never know service until you first began serving," the Rev. Mr. Musgrave told the graduates. "Some never serve because they have never tried. Christ in his own life, exemplified the cost of service. To serve means sacrifice. Yesterday gave us our libraries of today, our books, our conserved forests, our schools. We have inherited them. The graduating class of the Maryville High School has been preparing to go out and serve in its capacity of service in which it feels the most need of its talent.

"The highest, noblest picture I can present of real service is the work of missionaries on foreign fields, laying down their lives for Christ. St. Martin, a great missionary, said, 'I will not turn back on my work.' He did not and died on his field of service—a missionary. The world of tomorrow has no room for folks only through service. We must steer our lives into the great ocean of needs."

Thermometer in Mercury Drop of 9 Degrees Today

Sunshine today had no effect on the mercury in the thermometer of J. R. Brink, official weather observer. Instead of warming things up, Old Sol fought a losing battle against other elements, and as a result it was 9 degrees colder today at noon than it was at breakfast time.

This morning the thermometer showed 24 degrees above zero. At noon it was 15 above. And colder weather is promised.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Near-zero weather was predicted tonight over most of the Middle West following a driving snow storm which swept down upon the Great Lakes region today.

WILL DISCUSS ROAD PROBLEM

TOWNSHIP BOARD TO MEET WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

FAVOR LIGHT GRADERS

Concludes That Too Much Heavy Machinery Is Being Used—Public Invited to Attend Session.

The road maintenance problem will be discussed at a meeting of the Polk Township board at the Real Estate Bank at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The purchase of five or six patrol graders is being considered by the members of the board. These graders would cost about $190 apiece and are of the horse-drawn type. The board is now trying out two of these graders and it is believed the machinery will do satisfactory work on the roads.

The board has about concluded that too much heavy road machinery is being used and that the lighter equipment will be more satisfactory and less expensive in the long run. The members of the township board hope to work out a maintenance system that will result in better-kept roads at less expense to the taxpayers of polk township.

It is said that these lighter patrol graders have given satisfaction in road work wherever tried and the cost has been reduced materially.

At the present time the board has several of the larger type maintainers on hand and hopes to dispose of these to a good advantage if the lighter graders are purchased. The graders are drawn by four horses and are said to be economical to operate.

All those interested in the road maintenance problem in Polk Township are invited to attend the meeting Wednesday afternoon, Burt M. Rowley, trustee, said this morning. A plan may be worked out to employ several men, who will devote their time to keeping the roads in good condition.

Father of Mrs. James Newton Dies Yesterday

Succumbs In St. Joseph And Funeral Held At Maitland This Afternoon —Local Persons Attend.

Andrew Marcellus Wagner of Maitland, father of Mrs. James Newton of Maryville, died at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. O. C. McGrew, in St. St. Joseph. Mr. Wagner was 64 years old and had been failing in health for several years.

The body was taken to Maitland this morning where funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Wagner was a member of the Maitland Presbyterian Church. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Stults and Mrs. Ellwood Barrett of Maryville attended the funeral.

In addition to the two daughters, Mr. Wagner is survived by his widow, Mrs. Blanche Wagner, and one son, Harold A. Wagner of Galveston, Texas. Mr. Wagner had frequently visited at his daughter's home in Maryville.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cornell and son motored to St. Joseph yesterday to spend the day with Mr. Cornell's aunt, Mrs. Watt Hobbs, and his grandmother, Mrs. H. A. Webb of Burlington Junction, who is spending the winter at the Hobbs home.

2 YEARS FOR INFANTICIDE

BUT JUDGE GRANTS PAROLE TO MRS. AVIS McKEE.

CHECK WRITER GUILTY

Howard Hillis Is Sentenced To Six Months In Jail—Other Cases Disposed of.

At the opening session of the January term of Circuit Court today, Mrs. Avis McKee, formerly of Parnell, pleaded guilty to a charge of infanticide, and was sentenced to serve two years in the pententiary, but at the recommendation of several witnesses from that vicinity was paroled. She has six children and her counsel pleaded that it would be better to parole the mother and allow her to help care for them.

Bad Check Writer Sentenced.

Howard Hillis, charged with giving a bogus check, waived formal arraignment, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail.

Vernal McAtee and William Dewyre, Burlington Junction youths charged with gaming, also waived formal arraignment and entered pleas of guilty. They were each fined $25 and costs and committed to the custody of the sheriff until the fine and costs shall have been paid.

Bad check charges against W. H. Dredge and Homer Davis were settled and dismissed in vacation.

Prosecuting Attorney George Pat Wright entered a nolle pros in the state case against Fred C. James of Elmo, charged with assault with intent to kill. James' wife, Ellen C. James, was the prosecuting witness in this case. She charged that on July 9 of last year, James assaulted her with a club, beating her on the head, limbs and body.

Give Bond on Liquor Charges.

Thomas Harry Flanders, one of a party of St. Joseph men arrested recently at Barnard, waived formal arraignment and pleaded not guilty to a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor. He gave bond of $500. He is represented by B. E. Reilly, a St. Joseph attorney.

George Hammond, Q. A. Gilmore and Wilbert Reese, charged with possessing intoxicating liquor, also gave bond of $500.

The mandate of the Supreme Court affirming the conviction of John Henggeler on charge of mistreating a child, was ordered made a part of the record.

The case of Charley Roach, charged with assault with intent to rape, was continued by agreement. Other cases continued were:

State vs. Charles Gross, grand larceny.

State vs. John Pitts and Benjamin Pitts, transporting intoxicating liquor.

State vs. John Pitts, violation of motor law.

B. R. Kinsley, Ralph Ripley, E. R. Zemke, Arthur Hawkins, Joseph Rossi, Dale Bailey, Ernest Kelley, and Wilson Bradley were discharged from parole. The paroles of Delmar Lance, Lee Ingram, Daniel W. Sumy and Ellis Bradley were continued.

Four Divorce Cases Dropped.

Four divorce cases were dismissed by the plaintiffs: Ernest D. Kelley vs. Evelyn Kelley, Lawrence Potter vs. Carrie C. Potter, Lucile Warner vs. William Warner, and Dora Edwards vs. Clifford Edwards.

Orville D. Walker was given a divorce from Violet B. Walker.

The suit of Mary L. Maher and others against Rebecca J. McGarey and others, to set aside deed, was continued until next Monday to permit pleading by the defendant.

In the case of M. E. Ford against Russell Grundel, the defendant filed application for a change of venue. A change of venue also was asked by the defendant in the suit of J. H. Sayler against F. M. Grundel and Daisy M. Grundel.

In the suit of Ethel Comer Flowers against John W. Woods and others, the defendant was given until thirty days before the first day of the next term t file an answer.

The partition suit of Ora L. Campbell and others against Robert E. Kyle and others was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

The attachment suit of McCaffrey and Cook against O. S. Wilson was dismissed, as was the suit on note of the Farmers Trust Co., against E. G. Husbands and others.

Great Suffering From Floods and Cold Wave

Number of Towns and Villages Reported Under Water and Crops Destroyed—Below Freezing

Mexico City, Jan. 11—Great suffering prevails throughout Mexico as a result of floods followed by an abnormal cold snap.

Floods in Durango and Nayorit are reported to have swept out many towns and villages taking a heavy toll of life. Communication is not available thus preventing accurate estimates of conditions. It is reported that huge walls of water swept down over Indian villages, catching the populace unaware.

The cold wave have even hit the tropical belt and in the high altitudes the mercury has dropped below freezing. Barefoot and scantily clad natives are dying from exposure. Crops have been destroyed and sharp price advances in food is expected to work a hardship.

FIRE DESTROYS ELMO CHURCH

LOSS ESTIMATED AT APPROXIMATELY $10,000.

ORIGIN IS UNKNOWN

Blaze Discovered Short Time After Conclusion Of Annual Business Meeting at Christian Church.

Fire late yesterday afternoon destroyed the Christian Church building at Elmo and most of the contents. The loss is estimated at $10,000 and is partially covered by insurance.

Origin of the blaze is unknown.

The annual business meeting was held at the church yesterday afternoon and the service was concluded about 4 o'clock. About two hours later, the blaze was discovered by Mrs. E. R. Davis who immediately turned in the alarm. The fire, however, had gained such headway that firemen were unable to extinguish it before the building was razed.

A piano and some seats and pulpit furniture were carried out of the building and escaped damage.

No one was in the building when the fire started.

The church building had just been redecorated at considerable expense.

J. T. Alsup of Maryville is pastor of the church at Elmo. Following the fire, the other two pastors immediately offered their buildings for the use of services to the stricken congregation until a new church building can be constructed.

Refuses to Aid Solon Sentenced to Prison

Washington, Jan. 11.—Representative John W. Langley, Republican of Kentucky, was today denied the intervention of the Supreme Court in his conviction in the lower courts of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. The decision today is tantamount to upholding the conviction of the Congressman to two years in prison. It is assumed he will be taken to the penitentiary to start his sentence.

Asks Speedy Action on Co-op Marketing Bill

Jardine Appears Before House Committee.—A. F. L. Behind Farmers Of Middle West.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Early enactment of the administration's co-operative market bill as an aid to the farmers of the country was urged today before the House agriculture committee by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, who appeared as the first witness on farm relief legislation.

The bill would create a bureau of co-operative marketing in the department of agriculture to assist co-operative marketing associations.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—The American Federation of Labor will support the farmers of the Middle West in their demand for legislative action for relief of agriculture. William Green, president of the federation, made this statement today as he boarded a train for Washington after filling a speaking engagement here.

Her Condition Is Critical.

The condition of Mrs. John Frazee, who has been seriously ill at her home 324 East Fourth street, for some time, took a turn for the worse Saturday and she is in a critical condition today.

GRAND JURORS BEGIN SESSION

INVESTIGATING BODY IS CHARGED BY JUDGE DAWSON.

'NEVER SO IMPORTANT'

Grand Jury Can Get Evidence Prosecuting Attorney Cannot, Judge Points Out.

The Grand Jurors:

James Horton, foreman; Henry Neff, Lewis Miller, George Rimel, Arch Frank, George Hepburn, Claud Skeed, Gabe Purcell, Arch Hitchcock, J. A. Barr, Charles Sisson, Carl Johnson.

A grand jury called by Sheriff Lowell Campbell at the instruction of Circuit Judge John M. Dawson began its deliberations at the the courthouse this afternoon.

The jury was called for 9 o'clock this morning, but one member was late in arriving, and Judge Dawson did not deliver his charge until 1:39 o'clock this afternoon.

The charge given the grand jury was in general terms. Judge Dawson cited no particular offenses for investigation, but delivered the customary instructions as to inspection of the public institutions such as the jail, county farm and courthouse.

"There was never a time when the services of the grand jury was more important than today," Judge Dawson declared. "Since the World War there has been a laxity in morals and crime greater than in any other period in our history. The only hope for betterment is ceasless activity of all our law enforcement officers, the grand jury included.

"The prosecuting attorney can file informations, but he cannot secure evidence as the grand jury can. He has not the power to bring any man before him and put him under oath and compel him to answer questions. The grand jury is absolutely indispensable for the preservation of peace."

Jesse Hatcher Taken on Possession Charge

Man Living Near Graham Had Been Sentenced To Penitentiary Before On Similar Charge.

Jesse Hatcher was arrested on a farm three miles south of Graham Saturday night by deputy sheriffs Frank Burch of Graham and John Rasco of Barnard on a charge of possessing liquor. Two cases of empty pint bottles were found by the officers, along with three bottles of liquor one five-gallon jug.

Hatcher lives on the farm with his mother and brother.

On April 4, 1922 Hatcher was sentenced to two and one-half years in the penitentiary on charges of violation of the motor-vehicle law and the prohibition law. He appealed to the supreme court and the decision affirmed on April 14, 1924.

Officer Confesses to His Part in Hold-up

DeSoto, Mo., Officer Promised Protection But Says He Got No Money.

Hillsboro, Mo., Jan. 11. — L. W. Hearst, 27, chief of police of DeSoto, Mo., confessed to authorities today that he aided the men who held up the American Bank in DeSoto December 30, it was announced here. Hearst was trying to furnish bond of $10,000. The young chief said that he got none of the loot but that the two men being sought today got all of the money.

Hillsboro, Mo., Jan. 11. — Chief of Police L. W. Hearst of DeSoto, Mo., was being held under $10,000 bond here today on a charge of assisting in the plans of the hold up of the American State Bank at DeSoto December 30 in which $10,000 was taken. Hearst was arrested following the confession of William Perkins, farmer, who, according to authorities here, said that plans for the hold-up were made at the Hearst home on Sunday before the crime. In this confession, Perkins states that the police promised protection to the men participating in the hold-up.

BIG FOREIGN TRADE.

The foreign trade of the United States is at a high level. For the year just ended it totals about $9,000,000,000. This has been surpassed only three times, in the years immediately following the armistice—1919, 1920 and 1921. It is more than a billion above the 1924 level.

This total includes imports and exports. The balance between them is favorable. The exports are a billion dollars more than the imports.

So the rest of the world owes us just that much more, in addition to its debt payments. America can stand that if the debtors will meet their new obligations when due, and pay at least the interest on the old ones.

The total foreign indebtedness to America may never be less than it is now; but that is all right if it is regarded as a permanent foreign investment, bringing in a regular and assured return.

President's Breakfast Too Early for Solons

Coolidge Invites Congressmen to 8 O'Clock Breakfast To Discuss Important Legislative Matters.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington—Congress doesn't think much of that old bromide about the early bird.

Or maybe it doesn't care for worms.

At all events, very few congressmen quit the hay until well on in the forenoon.

There are exceptions, like Senator Borah, who always is up betimes and has a couple of hours' horseback riding, as well as a whole stack of work, to his credit before most of his fellow legislators have finished with their breakfast food.

The houses seldom meet, however, before noon and a big majority of the lawmakers set their alarm clocks accordingly.

Yet there's one thing the nation's statesmen do have to get up good and gol derned early for, and that's to keep a date with President Coolidge, to eat breakfast with him at the White House.

Whenever the president has something in mind that he particularly wants Congress to do, he invariably begins asking batches of senators and representatives—about half a dozen at a time—to drop in on him for breakfast, during which he talks the matter over with them and tries to convert them, if they need converting.

Well, the president breakfasts at 8, which may not seem very early to folk who are accustomed to being at work at that hour, but seems mighty early to a congressman who has hard work to report for duty at the capitol by noon.

The guests brought refreshments of pie and coffee, which were served after the games. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Froyd, Mr. and Mrs. Alec Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Hammond and daughter, Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Coulter, Floyd Ambrose and daughter, Frances, Byron Hanna, John Baumli, John Risban, Mrs. Nolan Smith, Donald Roach, Fred Hansen, George Fannon, Frank Peace, Thelma and William McDonald, Milan, Clifford, Mabel and Leonard Froyd.

Observe Founder's Day.

The anniversary of the founding of the P. E. O. Sisterhood was observed Saturday afternoon at the regular meeting of Chapter L, P. E. O., at the home of Mrs. S. P. Allison on West Fourth street. An interesting talk on "Reminiscences of New York" by Miss Minnie B. James was the opening number. The Founder's Day program which was in charge of Mrs. J. C. Allender and Miss Carrie E. Hopkins, opened with a Founder's song by Mrs. G. B. Roseberry. Mrs. Allender and Miss Hopkins gave a history of the organization, founded Jan. 21, 1869, by seven girls attending the Iowa Wesleyan College at Mount Pleasant, Ia. The sisterhood is the oldest among women's organizations in the United States, and is the second sorority organized in America. Two of the seven girls who founded the sisterhood are still living. The national organization has a membership of 35,000 women in 1,100 chapters in thirty-five states in the United States, with three chapters in British Columbia. The philanthropy of the sisterhood is in the educational fund which has in the fund and the endowment to it an investment of more than $25,000. A vocal solo by Miss Helen Todd concluded the program. Light refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Charles A. Haggard was a guest at the meeting.

Sallee-Benedict.

Miss Grace Sallee, a sister of Mrs. William Job, Jr., residing west of Maryville, was married to Henry D. Benedict at Loveland, Colo., Dec. 31. The following account of the wedding is taken from a Loveland paper:

An interesting wedding took place on New Year's eve when Miss Grace Sallee became the bride of Henry D. Benedict. The ceremony was performed at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. Cyrus E. Albertson, with Mrs. Amelia Johnson and Mrs. Maude Wallace as witnesses. Both Mr. and Mrs. Benedict recently came from California, the former making his home in San Bernardino and Mrs. Benedict in Long Beach. She is a sister of Mrs. M. D. Vert of this city. Mr. Benedict formerly made his home here and is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Benedict. He holds a responsible position now at the Waddell Bakery.

The bride was very charming in a gown of black satin crepe with a hat to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses.

On New Year's day they were the honor guests at an elaborate dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Renshaw, the latter being a sister of Mr. Benedict.

Observe Wedding Anniversary.

Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Myers surprised them at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. A. C. Thompson, and Mrs. Thompson, on East Third street Saturday night, arranging the affair in observance of their nineteenth wedding anniversary. Cards was the diversion for the evening, the games being played at three tables. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the games. In the group were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Costello, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ferritor, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sturm, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Messbarger, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Myers and children, Gertrude and Raymond, Mrs. Margaret Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gallagher and Daniel and Leo Myers.

Observe Two Birthdays.

Mrs. J. L. Teson and Mrs. G. O. Riley gave a surprise dinner party yesterday at the home of the former, southeast of Skidmore, to observe the birthday anniversaries of Mr. Teson and Mr. Riley. Dinner was served in cafeteria style. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Montgomery and daughter, Elnora, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Logan and daughter, Evelyn, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Riley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Loucks, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McClurg and family, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hammond, Mrs. Kate Cottrell, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Geyer, Mrs. G. I. Riley, Misses Minnie Kramer, Bernice Snelling, Mary Esther and Velma Loucks, Stoy Williams, and Jay and Albert Sewell.

Rickard Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rickard of Pickering had as their dinner guests yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hornbuckle and son, Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McMullin and daughter, Eva Laverne.

Harris-Herndon.

The marriage of Miss Zella Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harris of Parnell, and Carl L. Herndon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Herndon, also of Parnell, took place Saturday evening at Bedford, Ia. The couple will be at home in Parnell. Mr. Herndon is connected with the Grant City Oil Company.

LAMKIN GIVEN MUCH PRAISE

SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY HAS COMPLIMENTARY ARTICLE.

FOR N. E. A. PRESIDENT

S. T. C. Chief Is "Highly Qualified," Says Official Journal Of Missouri Teachers.

The School and Community, official publication of the Missouri Teachers Association, devotes part of its January number to a photograph and accompanying description of Uel W. Lamkin, president of the State Teachers College here, and an account of his endorsement by the state association as Missouri's candidate for president of the National Education Association. The article follows:

"President Uel W. Lamkin was proposed and endorsed by the M. S. T. A. as a candidate for the presidency of the National Education Association the election of which will take place at the annual convention to be held in Philadelphia June 27 to July 2, 1926.

"President Lamkin is by temperament, experience and training highly qualified for the position to which the Missouri Teachers wish him elected. Working up from the bottom he has served in many positions of responsibility and always with efficiency. As teacher, high school principal, city superintendent, county superintendent, state high school inspector, state superintendent of public schools and president of the State Teachers College, he has won and holds the universal esteem of Missouri people.

"He is the only person who as county superintendent of schools has been honored with the presidency of the M. S. T. A. In this position he set a new record in both the enrollment and the quality of the program. In his work on the executive committee of the association, from which he is just retiring, his service has been noteworthy. The association continues to enjoy the benefit of his ability as chairman of its building committee.

"He is widely known nationally as an educator and has served several years as federal director of vocational and rehabilitation education. This high position was won as a recognition of his ability in this work which he demonstrated as a district director in this department. Few people will question the statement that President Lamkin is the best qualified person available for the presidency of the National Education Association. His personality, his demonstrated executive ability, and his zeal for progressive educational movements all indicate that as president of the National Education Association he would carry the N. E. A. forward to new records of popularity and accomplishments.

"Geographically Missouri is entitled to this honor. The present president is a Massachusetts elementary principal; her successor was a city superintendent of the far west. Immediately preceding President Newlon, Miss Jones of New York represented the elementary principals. She in turn had been preceded by a city superintendent from the Pacific Coast. It is, therefore, timely to ask for the election of a president from the Mississippi Valley, who represents the teacher training institutions directly and the broad general interests of our national organizations."

F. M. Cummins Here.

F. M. Cummins, formerly of the firm of Montgomery-Cummins, is in Maryville on his way to Des Moines to get his wife and children and take them to San Bernardino, Cal., where Mr. Cummins is now located.

Tom Clark, manager of the Electric Theater, and his family have moved from 110½ East Third street to the Charles A. Jensen house on East Sixth street, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. John Knox.

Enrollment for 2nd Semester on Today

Maryville High School Students To Matriculate Throughout All of This Week.

Enrollment for the second semester at the Maryville High School, which opens January 18, started this afternoon in the office of the principal L. L. St. Clair. Enrollment of the various classes will continue throughout the week.

Advanced and beginning seniors of the new term will be taken care of first, Mr. St. Clair announced. Juniors will be second in line, then sophomores, and finally the freshmen. There will be a number of entries in the beginning freshmen class as students of the A 8th grade of the Washington school will be enrolled Monday.

Principal St. Clair has laid special stress on courses of studies for this year. He advises lower classmen to eliminate as many half-year subjects as possible and make way for more year subjects, and to save the half year studies until the senior year. He says that some students "load up" on half-year courses and meet with a great deal of conflict for such subjects in the senior year.

Students cannot carry five subjects unless they are of satisfactory standing. Students in enrolling must designate activities in which they expect to participate, remembering that membership in one club is required, and students of "M" standing may belong to two if they desire. Only "S" students can belong to three.

Students are advised to take two years of foreign language and three years of mathematics if they do not intend to take these studies in their college work later on.

Would Annul Will of Former Resident Here

Dennis Kelly Said To Have Been Of Unsound Mind And "Unduly Influenced.

An annulment suit against the will of Dennis Kelly, former Maryville resident, was filed in St. Joseph Saturday. Ellen Kelly Hickman, St. Joseph; Mary Kelly, Linville, Ia., nieces, and Thaddeus Kelly, Michigan, a nephew, are the plaintiffs. They charge that Mr. Kelly was of unsound mind and "unduly influenced" by his nephew and niece, Neal P. McDermott, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Mary Cameron, Kansas City, when he made his will shortly before his death in St. Joseph last November 28. McDermott and Mrs. Cameron were bequeathed the bulk of a $10,000 estate.

A brother and a sister of Mr. Kelly, Ned and Bridget Kelly, living in County Mayo, Ireland, were given $5 each in the will. A like amount was bequeathed to three nieces, Helen, Margaret and Katherine Ansbro, all living in Colorago. The remainder of the estate, valued at about $10,000 and consisting of both real and personal property situated in Buchanan county, was given to McDermott and Mrs. Cameron.

Mr. Kelly stated in the will that he was giving the bulk of the estate to the nephew and niece because he had made his home for many years with their mother, Mary McDermott, who was his sister, and because of the many kindnesses he had received at her hands and the hands of her children during the time he lived with the family.

Around Our Town

The writer met Homer T. Phillips of the College faculty this morning.

"Good morning, Mr. Phillips."

"Hullo," (in a husky barytone voice).

"S'matter, got a cold?"

"No, voice is changing."

The following is told of a newly-married woman of Maryville who went to reserve two seats for the K. C. A. C.-Bearcat basketball game Saturday night.

"You are quite lucky, madam," said the ticket seller. "We have only two seats left. They are single seats, however."

"Oh, I'm so sorry," said the bride. "We couldn't use single seats, because you see, we're married now."

A census of the pronghorned antelope, the only species of antelope native to America, has just been completed. It shows that there are but 30,000 in North America in 286 scattered bands. According to estimates, the pronghorn once numbered from 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 here.

"Movies" in Schools

Geography is being taught in the Sophie Charlotte lyceum (high school) in Berlin by the use of motion pictures. As an introduction to the geographical study of Spain, for example, the pupils show first a film recording a trip through that country. Pictures of the different types of people in the various districts were exhibited, then a series of superb views of landscapes, from the high mountains to the tropical gardens of Seville. There were picture excursions to Parsifal's Monsalvati and other points, pictures of the fight of Christendom against the Moors and finally visits to the modern cities of Toledo and Granada. It is safe to say that never before in a Berlin class in geography was the interest so intense. It is planned to introduce this method in all Berlin schools.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Fishing, in idle fashion, from a private dock, Dick Van Ness watches a ship, the Pelican which he recognizes as the Beacon his father's yacht before his death and financial reverses forced him to part with it. A man whom he hears a girl who accompanies him address as Mr. Blake, lands from the yacht The girl drops her handbag in the stream, and Dick recovers it. Thanking him, she gives him her visiting card. She is Alice Cutler, niece of Stephen Cutler, successful business rival of the elder Van Ness.

CHAPTER II.—Dick overhears a conversation between Blake and Captain Brent of the Pelican which gives him the impression that the yacht is bound on a voyage of adventure to an island the name of which he does not hear.

CHAPTER III.—Acting on impulse Dick, footloose and ready for any sort of adventure, remembers a hiding place in the main cabin of the yacht and determines to conceal himself and sail—a stowaway—with the party. Stephen Cutler, invalid, comes aboard, with his niece, and the ship sails.

CHAPTER IV.—In his retreat Dick overhears conversations between Blake and Captain Brent which appear to denote something sinister. Believing the cabin empty, Dick emerges from hiding and encounters Marie. Alice Cutler's French maid. Getting back quickly, unrecognized, the girl insists she has seen a "ghost," and is ridiculed. The yacht reaches its apparent destination an island. Dick swims ashore.

CHAPTER V.—On the island next day Van Ness witnesses an exchange of mysterious signals which he realizes are between Blake, at Cutler's house, and Captain Brent, on the yacht. He is present, unseen, while Blake and Marie speak in heated terms of things which add to the mystery of the situation. Sleeping in a boathouse near the dock, Dick is discovered by Alice. He admits he was on the yacht, and she reveals that fact that the servants who should have been at the house are mysteriously absent, only her uncle, Stephen Cutler, Doctor Alster, Blake and herself being on the island. Dick's presence is known only to Alice. The yacht sails, leaving the party.

CHAPTER VI.—Floating on a life-raft, a sailor is assisted to the shore by Van Ness. He asserts he is one of the crew of the Pelican, which is on a reef, fast breaking up, and that he volunteered to swim ashore and seek aid. Neither to Dick nor Alice, who hears the man's story, does it ring true, and Dick is more than ever convinced that some plot, engineered by Blake and involving Stephen Cutler, is afoot.

CHAPTER VII.—Exploring the island, Dick discovers a wireless apparatus from which messages are being sent and received. They are in code and he can make nothing of them, though he is convinced Blake is communicating with the yacht. Continuing his investigations, Van Ness is surprised and knocked senseless by McGee, the sailor whom he had helped ashort. The fellow leaves Dick, bound and helpless, in a cave, while he goes to inform Blake of Dick's presence, and his captivity.

CHAPTER VIII.—Blake visits Dick, recognizing him as the man he had seen on the dock, but attaching little importance to his presence on the island. Van Ness succedds in freeing himself from his bonds.

Chapter IX.—Escaping from the cave, Dick overhears a heated conversation between Blake and Alice Cutler, in which the man threatens her with violence if she will not agree to marry him. She indignantly refuses. Dick makes his way to the house and arranges for an interview with Doctor Alster, Cutler's physician. Dick's reasoning has convinced him that if, as he suspects, Cutler is the victim of a plot which Blake has engineered, Doctor Alster is the man upon whom the conconspirators must rely for the successful working out of their plans.

CHAPTER X.—Van Ness gets little information from Doctor Alster, but is convinced that Stephen Cutler is, for some mysterious purpose, being kept under the influence of drugs. Marie, who had believed Blake in love with her, quarrels with him concerning his attentions to Alice Cutler. The man throws her over a cliff into the sea, and leaves the spot believing her dead. She is rescued by Dick.

CHAPTER XI.—From Marie Van Ness gets an idea of the plot of which Stephen Cutler is the victim—the manipulation of the latter's financial holdings while he is incapacitated. Dick overpowers and binds both McGee and Blake, and leaving them helpless turns his attention to the wireless apparatus, of which he knows something.

CHAPTER—XII.—Dick broadcasts a message appealing for help from any passing ship. Leaving his prisoners, he frightens Doctor Alster sufficiently to induce him to betray his confederate, Blake, and restore cutler to sanity. Before this can be accomplished the Pelican comes back.

CHAPTER XIII.—Brent lands from the yacht. In his absence Dick induces the crew, most of whom he has sailed with when the vessel was his father's, to help him save Cutler and Alice.

CHAPTER XIV.

Although Barnett, as the newly appointed captain of the Pelican, was nominally in command, Dick assumed charge and began active preparations for meeting the enemy. The yacht was ransacked for firearms, and with every member of the crew armed with some sort of weapon he divided his men into two squads.

Captain Barnett was left in charge of the yacht while Dick led half the crew up to the house. Alice accompanied him, although he sought to hold her back. "I want to see how uncle is," she gave as an excuse.

Unable to combat this argument Dick permitted her to trail in the rear. Without ceremony he burst into the front door, and then more cautiously made his way up to the sick chamber, followed by his men.

Marie, white of face and trembling violently, met him at the doorway. "Oh, it's you!" she cried in relief. "I was afraid it was that horried captain again."

"Where is Captain Brent?"

"Gone away with Doctor Alster."

"Where to?"

"I don't know, but they said something about Mr. Blake and a cave, and—"

Dick swung around before she finished. He kept six steps ahead of his nearest men in descending the stairs. There was a possible chance of heading Brent off before he reached the cave to release the prisoners, and he made a hasty flight in that direction.

But there was no sign of the enemy on the way, and when he reached the entrance to the cave he heard voices below that convinced him he was too late. Brent and Alster were down there with Blake and McGee.

Stationing his men in strategic positions Dick approached the entrance.

"Brent, we know you're armed," he called, "but neither Blake nor McGee has a gun. I saw to that. There are six of us up here, and every one's prepared to shoot the first head that shows up. Miss Cutler's discharged you, and appointed Barnett as skipper. I'm his first mate. Therefore, this isn't mutiny. The crew is following the orders of their captain. Now, will you come up peaceably and surrender, or is it fight?"

The answer came rather unexpectedly and violently. There was an explosion below, and a bullet flattened itself on the rock near Dick.

"Thanks for the answer, Brent," was the retort. "We can now consider hostilities opened. Look out!"

He fired at something that showed white in the dim of the cave. There was a groan, and the object disappeared from sight.

"Close in, men," Dick said coolly, "but don't expose yourselves. Shoot at anything you see."

Intermittent volleys followed, and bullets rattled down the cave, with an occasional shot from below. Realizing the men below had the advantage of light, Dick again cautioned his men not to expose themselves. But one advantage was in their favor. They surrounded the mouth of the cave on all sides, and while the enemy was taking a shot at one of their number the guns of the others could be trained or him.

The noise of the shooting soon brought others from the yacht. With their quarry imprisoned in the cave there was no need of keeping more than a corporal's guard aboard the Pelican. Their shots soon began to tell, for the explosions from below became less and less frequent. A moan occasionally reached their ears. At least one of the gang had been hit.

The problem of getting the men out of the cave was a serious one. With night coming on the difficulty of watching and guarding the place would increase. In the course of time they would be starved out but that might require days and days.

"It's only a question of time before we get them," Dick said to Captain Barnett when they withdrew to consider the situation. "There's no fun in starving them out. We ought to find some quick plan for settling it."

"I could go down there," volunteered the young skipper, and get one of them."

"And get killed yourself," smiled Dick. "No, Barnett, I won't permit that."

"You forget I'm captain and you're mate," laughed the other. "You take orders from me, and not give them."

"Well, if you want a small-sized mutiny on your hands, Captain, you try to go down there."

"Suppose I order you to go down?"

Dick shrugged his shoulders. "I'd obey," he replied.

Barnett chuckled. "I believe you would."

Jurgins, who was crouching behind a rock with one eye on the cave's entrance, suddenly raised his head, and pointed. "Miss Cutler looks excited."

Dick and Barnett whirled around.

"Oh, Dick, I Almost Wished It Wasn't Coming."

Tripping hurriedly over the rocks, with her hair and skirts whipping the wind like flags, Alice Cutler came, waving them in what Dick thought was anxiety and fear. He started toward her on a run.

"Dick! Dick!" she called. "Oh, uncle's better!—and a ship's coming!"

With this double information out, she stopped, and panting for breath, waited for him to reach her side.

"Isn't it good news, Dick?" she asked, smiling into his face. "Uncle's conscious, and begins to remember things. Oh, I'm sure he'll get better!"

"I'm glad of that, Miss Alice. But you said something about a ship."

"Yes, I forgot. It's nearly here, steaming at full speed. And do you know, Dick, I think it's a navy vessel—a revenue cuter or torpedo boat! I don't know which. Anyway, it's got guns on it, and it looks awfully fierce and warlike."

"Where is it?" he demanded; and whirling her around he made her lead him back to the top of the cliff.

There, in plain sight, heading for the island under forced draft, was a scrappy-looking torpedo boat, her deck lined with bluejackets.

Dick smiled. "I guess the Pelican wasn't the only one that picked up my S. O. S. She certainly acts as if she was in a hurry."

The girl by his side suddenly turned grave, and said the most inexplicable thing. "Oh, Dick, I almost wished it wasn't coming. It was going to be so nice on the island without—without—Now, I suppose there'll be a crowd!"

He looked at her waveringly, queer sensations at his heart, strange lights dancing before his eyes. Like a man seized with vertigo he staggered toward her, caught one of her hands in his, and opened his mouth to speak; but Captain Barnett at that moment appeared, a pair of binoculars in his hands.

"As sure as you're born, Mr. Van Ness," he said, "it's a warship. That's good news."

"Of course it is,' muttered Dick in disgust. "Anybody could see with his naked eyes it wasn't a scow or rowboat."

Barnett lowered his glasses, and stared at him in amazement. Then he turned to Alice, and seeing her flushed face, he grunted and walked away.

The Credentials of BUICK

Examine the credentials of the builder of any car you think of buying. Be sure there is stability behind the car. Be certain that it will not some day join the ranks of the million and more unmarketable "orphan" cars whose builders have quit.

Buick motor cars are backed by vast resources of men, equipment, investment and success. The Buick factory is a mile and a half long. The Buick engineering staff is the largest in the service of any motor car manufacturer. The Buick sales and service organization numbers 4000, with millions invested in showrooms and Authorized Service Stations all over America.

And Buick leads in public preference, the indispensable factor in motor car success. For eight consecutive years, the public has invested more money in Buicks than in the cars of any other member of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Not one of the million "orphans" on the roads today was built by Buick. None ever will be!

Better Buick Six Cylinder Valve-in-Head motor cars range in price from $1125 to $1995, f.o.b. Buick factories. Among the Buick open and closed models there is one that will meet your desires exactly.

Careful Driving

With the enormous increase in the number of motor driven vehicles on city streets and country highways, the subject of Careful Driving becomes more pertinent, day by day.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) feels that it has a duty—self-imposed it is true—to so conduct the operations of its own fleets of motor driven vehicles, as to set an example to others.

This Company also believes that the public will be interested in the result of its efforts to promote Careful Driving.

Upon this premise, it will present, during the next few weeks, a few phases of its safety efforts.

Perhaps no other organization in the Middle West has been afforded such an excellent opportunity to observe the need for Careful Driving as has this Company.

Several years ago, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), recognizing the need for some constructive, organized effort to prevent avoidable accidents, inaugurated its Safety First Division. The results have been more than gratifying.

To instill caution by legislation is difficult, and while definite orders, as to care in handling the Company's business, have been issued, it is our experience that the greatest good has come from those suggestions, sent out from time to time, which appeal to the sound judgment and unwavering loyalty of the men handling Company equipment.

In support of this contention, we point out that for the year 1924, Standard Oil Company (Indiana) motor driven vehicles crossed railroad tracks thirty one million times without an accident.

The Management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) pointed out to its drivers the dangers and the lack of consideration for others in careless driving. It furnished a placard reading:

"This Car Stops at All Railroad Crossings"

Each driver was asked to pledge himself to cooperate and to evidence his good intentions by displaying this placard on the rear of his machine.

That such a remarkable result was achieved, as if by common consent, is a deserved tribute to the spirit prevailing throughout the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) organization of 28,059 men and women.

It is this spirit which has enabled the Management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to render such an essential service, in such a constructive way, as to have gained for the Company, the confidence, respect and esteem of the thirty million people of the Middle West.

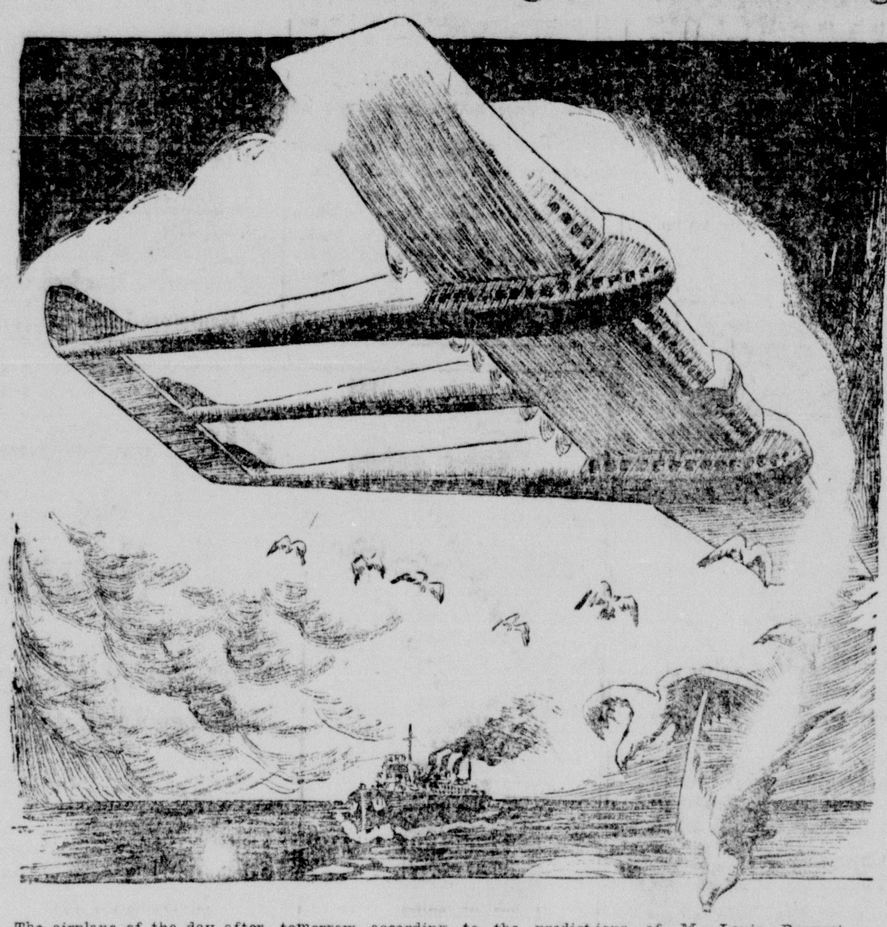
Foresees Giant Planes Speeding Across Seas With Freight and Passengers



The airplane of the day after tomorrow, according to the predictions of M. Louis Berguet.

Paris, Jan. 11.—Huge, three-bodied birds, soaring in one gigantic 20-hour leap across the Atlantic—

Carrying passengers, their baggage and freight, with as great ease, comfort and security as the finest ocean liner.

Costing only one-third as much as trans-Atlantic travel costs at present—

This is the prospect outlined by one of the foremost aviation authorities in the world, Louis Breguet, president of the French Chamber of Industrial Aeronautics and himself a leader in airplane invention.

The huge metal albatross that he depicts for the future is an invention of his own imaginative mind, but he asserts that it is merely an idea of what the large airplane manufacturers and inventors are actually contemplating. It may be years before this revolution in world touring will arrive, but Breguet asserts it is actually within the vision of the far-sighted men of today.

Present Planes "Crude."

In comparison with the airplane of the "day after tomorrow," the plane of today is a crude, plodding instrument, unsafe, untrustworthy, merely experimental.

Even the airplane of "tomorrow," according to Breguet's prophesy, will be slow and insecure in comparison with that to come. But it will be a marvelous improvement over present-day flying.

While airplanes now take jumps that average about 100 miles, the bird of tomorrow will, only a few years hence, take hops of almost 1000 miles, at an average speed of 110 miles an hour.

That's the commercial, heavier type of plane, designed for comfortable passenger travel.

"The characteristic of the airplane of the day after tomorrow will be their lengthened hop from 1000 miles to an average of 2500 miles," says Breguet.

Here is his description of this huge bird:

"The machine will appear like a vast bird containing many motors, tanks, equipment, passengers and freight. That is to say that this bird will be sufficiently spacious to permit the liberal circulation of passengers and their baggage within it.

"This huge bird will have three bodies—the central body containing navigation equipment and room for pilot and commander, and the lateral bodies containing lobbies, dining halls, salons and first-class cabins.

"The freight compartments could be set at the rear of the machine and the propellers would be found back of the single plane. The lower-class cabins would be within the forward part of this plane.

Weight 55 Tons.

"The total weight would be about 55 tons, the dead weight of the apparatus being about 20 tons, the additional weight of essential equipment and gasoline leaving some 14 tons for the passengers and their baggage.

"The commercial speed of this machine would be about 140 miles an hour and its radius of action would be about 2500 miles."

Thus the dream of some modern thinkers for a sort of floating island in the middle of the Atlantic, as a refueling station for future airplane transports, is surpassed by the non-stop ocean flyer of Louis Breguet.

"If it is difficult to assign a date for the arrival of the airplane of tomorrow and of after-tomorrow, or to indicate the intermediate stages, it can be affirmed, nevertheless that there is nothing in the conception of each that is beyond actual human vision, and nothing in their construction that can be considered as impossible of realization."

That is the parting assurance of Louis Breguet.

TAX REDUCTION BILL UP SOON

WILL BE REPORTED TO SENATE WITHIN WEEK.

HOPE FOR HEAVY CUT

Democrats Propose Reduction of $500,000,000—Would Retire Debt In 32 Years.

Washington, Jan. 11—The administration's new 325-million-dollar tax-reduction bill will be reported to the Senate within a week, it was learned today, with both Republican and Democrats alike joining in a drive to cut the huge tax mellon before the next income tax returns become due March 1.

The measure will go to the Senate with little of the party harmony that characterized its enactment by the House. The Democrats will present a minority report proposing a tax reduction of 500 million dollars, based on a plan of retiring the public debt in thirty-two years as a substitute for the twenty-year retirement plan adopted by the Coolidge administration.

Washington, Jan. 11—Tax reduction of $500,000,000 this year—or approximately $170,000,000 more than provided by the house revenue bill—was proposed in a program drafted by the Democratic members of the state finance committee.

While accepting the reduction in the maximum surtax rate from 40 to 20 per cent, the plan, announced by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the committee, would increase the reductions voted by the house for incomes between $22,000 and $100,000.

Repeal of taxes on capital stock, admissions and dues made up the remainder of additional reductions in the Democratic program. Passenger automobile taxes were not touched in the plan on which they agreed.

Accept Income Tax Cut.

Cuts in the normal income tax rates and the increased personal exemptions for income taxes provided in the house measure were accepted, and no reference was made to the inheritance tax, publicity of income tax returns or any of the other rate schedules.

In making public the plan, Senator Simmons announced it represented the views of Democrats only on the specific items mentioned. "Other important matters in the bill" will be dealt with as they are reached, he said, indicating that some of the minority members will fight for other changes in the house measure.

Senator Simmons declared the increase above the $330,00,000 reduction limit set by the house and approved by Secretary Mellon could be accomplish and still permit retirement of the public debt at the end of thirty-two years, the maximum time now contemplated by the treasury.

Apply War Debt Funds.

He would pay the public debt entirely from the sinking fund created for this purpose, but would require the cost of the sinking fund to be cut by applying to it the annual receipts from foreign governments on account of war debt payments.

"Under the present law," the senator explained, "the $253,000,000 annually set apart as a sinking fund is raised by taxation and used for the retirement of our indebtedness; and in addition to that the amount annually received from our foreign debtors, estimated for this year at more than $175,000,000, is likewise applied to the retirement of our indebtedness.

"The minority proposes to apply to this sinking fund all receipts from foreign governments arising on account of their indebtedness, thereby reducing to the extent of these foreign payments the amount to be raised by taxation for purpose of the sinking fund."

Senator Simmons will present the Democratic program to the finance committee when it takes up consideration of the rate schedules, but Republican members, who have a ten to seven majority, have indicated they would vote for the schedules written into the bill by the house with perhaps some less extensive modifications.

The real showdown on the rate fight, therefore, is not likely until the measure is considered on the floor of the senate, when Democrats hope to draw enough support from the Republican ranks to insert some of their schedules in the bill.

Differ on Income Tax.

Revision of the house surtax schedules on incomes between $22,000 and $100,000, as proposed by the Democrats, would increase the tax reduction on this account by $44,000,000 over that in the house measure, Senator Simmons said. The house surtax reductions were confined to rates applying to incomes between $44,000 and $100,000.

"The average reduction made in the house bill on incomes between $10,000 and $20,000 is 25 per cent," Senator Simmons said, "upon incomes between $20,000 and $100,000 is 9 per cent, and upon incomes in excess of $100,000 is 50 per cent.

"The schedule proposed by the minority will provide for an average reduction upon incomes up to $20,000 of 25 per cent; upon incomes from $20,000 to $100,000 of 24 per cent; on incomes over $100,000 of 50 per cent."

Repeal of the capital stock tax applying to corporations would cut government revenue by $94,000,000, it was estimated, while repeal of the levies on admissions and dues would account for $30,000,000 more annually.

Calls It "Nuisance Tax."

Commenting on the proposed repeal of the capital stock levy, Senator Simmons declared the tax "is peculiarly discriminatory against the weaker corporations, and is distinctly a nuisance tax."

Mrs. Ida Moberly of Barnard returned home today from St. Joseph, where she recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Missouri Methodist Church.

Ellington—The transfer of real estate in Reynolds County in the past few months has passed the $500,000 mark. Before public attention was directed to this section through advertising by the chambers of commerce there had been no sales to speak of.

Jefferson City—State Highway No. 2, St. Louis to Kansas City, has been completed and opened to traffic. All of the 256 miles is now concrete except 10 miles at Mineola and 34 miles in Boone and Callaway counties. These two stretches are hardsurfaced with gravel.

St. Louis—More than 6,000 buyers attended the shoe pageant here. A. E. Ebbs of this city was elected head of the Southwestern Shoe Retailers' Association. J. W. Mullen of Moberly was chosen a vice president; J. M. Wood of Hannibal and Otto Schultz of Jefferson City, directors.

Trenton—A new high school course to consist of addresses on business problems by local business men will be started here at the beginning of the next semester of school.

Troy—Progress is being made on plans for a milk station here. Farm districts are being canvassed, bonds sold and pledges made of cows so that permanent milk routes may be established.

Trenton—R. A. Hatfield, a farmer near here, raised 100 bushels of corn to the acre on a four-acre tract. He won two prizes.

Jefferson City—The State Game and Fish Department is waging a war on gar fish. More than 1,000 large ones recently have been killed.

Clayton—St. Louis County farmers report 21,280 acres seeded to wheat, as compared with 25,950 in 1924.

Union—Franklin County farmers seeded 52,230 acres to wheat, as compared with 61,450 in 1924.

Warrensburg—A total of 1,850 automobiles driven by tourists spent the night at the Warrensburg free camping grounds in 1925.

Lexington—The $250,000 school bonds which were voted here on December 11, have been sold to a St. Louis firm at a $9,628 premium.

Cassville—An oil well being sunk near here has gone down 3,440 feet and shows good prospects of oil.

Princeton—Corn in the west part of Mercer County is yielding about 60 bushels to the acre on many farms.

Albany—Joe Davidson of this city spoke with Honolulu on his radio station and gave the operator a message for relay.

Bethany—The schools of Harrison County are preparing for the spelling contests, which will be state-wide, as last year.

Caruthersville—The county court has ordered suits against taxpayers who have withheld payments, protesting they are too high.

Edina—The city water supply has been reported as excellent following an examination of samples by the State Board of Health.

Tanner—R. D. Borntrager produced nine pounds of peppermint oil from one-fifth acre. The price is $17 a pound.

Butler—A committee has been appointed to sound out sentiment here on the establishment of a creamery.

Humansville—About 25 acres of Bermuda onions will be grown here next summer to test possibilities of this new industry.

Boonville—The new $160,000 gymnasium and $40,000 swimming pool at Kemper Military School will be dedicated on February 1.

Weaubleau—A strawberry shipping association for Hickory County has been organized here. Much acreage has been pledged.

PUBLIC SALE

On account of [illegible]th I will offer at public auction on

TUESDAY, JANUARY 19

Commencing at 12 o'clock noon

The following described property, at my farm 2 miles east and 3 miles south of Elmo, 4 miles west and 2 miles south of Clearmont, 1½ miles south of Possum Walk, and 1 mile west and 2 north of Burlington Junction.

30 HEAD OF CATTLE—15 milk cows, all T. B. tested; some are fresh, others will freshen soon; 14 yearling and spring calves; 1 registered Jersey bull, 2 years old. These cows are not Southern, shipped-in stuff, which is usually offered at Dairy Sales, but all except three, were raised on my farm. We have bred, for quantity and quality, by having in our herd, bulls whose ancestors have made a good dairy record. The following described bull is the one I offer in this sale: Crystal Count's Lad No. 222822. Sire, Crystal Count, 175613; Dam, Beauty's Fern Lass, No. 354139. Beauty Fern is now owned by the State Teachers College of Maryville. This herd consists of purebred Jerseys, purebred Shorthorn and Holstein mixed. This is not a "Show" breed, but for dairy purposes there is none better. They range in age from 3 to 7 years.

HOGS—6 Duroc Hogs, weight 200 pounds.

HORSES—One team of good work mares, 5 and 6 years old. Several dozen good chickens.

FEED—6 tons of baled alfalfa, 3 tons of timothy and clover. 1000 bushels of well matured corn that was gathered before that early zero weather.

IMPLEMENTS—1 Deering Mower, 1 Deering hay rake, 1 corrugated culti-packer, 1 John Deere cultivator, 2 John Deere disc harrows, 1 stirring (walking) plow, 1 Patee cultivator, 1 Campbell corn drill, 1 bunch of neckyokes, single and doubletrees, 1 box wagon, 1 hay rack and wagon, 1 Daisy hog oiler, 1 20-bushel self-feeder, ¼ ton of tankage, 1 Hercules gas engine and pump jack, good condition. 1 soldering outfit, 11 outhouse windows, 34x36; 1 180-egg Klondike Incubator and brooder, 1 De Laval cream separator, No. 15; 3 10-gallon cream cans; 1 4-burner Perfection oil stove and oven.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS—1 walnut writing desk, 1 oak book case, 1 glass door cupboard, 1 round oak dining table, 1 set of 6 dining room chairs. Other things too numerous to mention. There will be trucks on the ground and we will guarantee delivery prices to be reasonable.

SALE WILL PROCEED RAIN OR SHINE.

We will meet the 10:20 and 10:55 a. m. trains.

TERMS—Usual.

Daniel Hamblin Dead; Been Resident Since '79

Heart Trouble Fatal to Burlington Junction Man.—Funeral Arrangements Not Made.

Daniel L. Hamblin, a resident of Nodaway County since 1879, died at his home in Burlington Junction about 6 o'clock this morning of heart trouble. He had been sick for some time.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Alva Ragsdale, pastor of the Christian Church at Burlington Junction. Burial will be in the Ohio cemetery.

Mr. Hamblin was born in Indiana on November 11, 1848. He was a Civil War veteran, having served in an Iowa company.

He had lived in Burlington Junction for a number of years. Besides his wife, he is survived by three daughters: Mrs. Hettie Sears, Plattsmouth, Neb.; Mrs. Edna Irvin, Burlington Junction; and Mrs. Lena B. Hankins, Quitman.

Fire at White Lily School This Morning

The White Lily school, four miles north of Clearmont, caught fire from sparks this morning. Neighbors put out the blaze before much damage was done.

Miss Mildred McMaster is the teacher.

MERRITH IN SENATE RACE

POPLAR BLUFF MAN ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY.

HAWES MAKES DENIAL

St. Louis Congressman Declares He Never Attacked Woodrow Wilson But Was Friendly To Him.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Jan. 11.—Willis H. Meredith, in formally announcing his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States senator from Missouri, outlined the platform upon which he would run. He advocated farm relief, adherence of the United States to the world court, enforcement of all laws, improvement of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, federal aid in the reclamation of swamp lands and abolition of useless boards and bureaus. He did not mention prohibition.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Jan. 11.—Willis H. Meredith of Poplar Bluff returned yesterday from Springfield, where he attended the Jackson day celebration, and immediately on his return announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States senator.

He will file for both the long and short terms unless ex-Governor Frederick D. Gardner reconsiders his recently expressed determination and becomes a candidate for both terms, he said.

Meredith has delayed his announcement pending a survey of the sentiment over the state and declared his trip to Springfield and other cities in Missouri recently convinced him his efforts were justified.

Meredith is a prominent attorney in Southeast Missouri. He was the Democratic candidate for attorney general in 1920, and ran ahead of both state and national tickets. He is now engaged in financing a 3-million-dollar dam project on Black River near Poplar Bluff and is connected with various promotion organizations in this part of the state.

Washington, Jan. 11.—"Not as a matter of controversy, but just to set Mr. Meredith right in the matter, I want to say that his statement is false."

This was the reply yesterday of Representative Harry B. Hawes, of St. Louis, Democratic candidate for senator in Missouri, to a charge made by Willis H. Meredith of Poplar Bluff that Hawes in 1919 had attacked Woodrow Wilson and threatened to leave the Democratic party because of dissatisfaction with the Wilson administration. Meredith made this charge in connection with the announcement he would oppose Representative Hawes in the coming senatorial primary.

After making the foregoing comment, Representative Hawes continued: "All over Missouri, Democratic men and women have been putting aside personal preference and assisting in the work of refinancing the party, recognizing it, and bringing it to an unusual state of efficiency for the coming campaign.

"There are a few—just a very few—who thrive on discord and dissention. It may be one of these has imposed upon Mr. Meredith.

"I have not read his statement, only a telegraph excerpt, in which he declared I had attacked the Wilson administration.

"I was selected by the Democrats of Missouri to visit Shadow Lawn, N. J., (The home of President Wilson) as the official spokesman for Missouri when Mr. Wilson was nominated.

"At the time of his death, I had the unusual distinction of being one of six Democratic congressmen selected from all the Democrats in the house of representatives to officially attend his funeral.

"A few days later I delivered a speech on the subject of President Wilson, which has been circulated throughout Missouri.

"I never in 1919, or at any other time, either privately or publicly—in either a speech or a written statement, attacked President Wilson or his administration.

"Misrepresentation will be destroyed by the facts.

"I have before me and have just read my interviews of 1919. There is not a line in any of them that can be given the strained construction apparently placed upon them by Mr. Meredith. I cannot understand how, if Mr. Meredith has read them, he could be guilty of such apparent distortion.

"In the many conversations I have had with Mr. Meredith in recent years, when he has called at my office and visited me in Washington, he has never alluded to any alleged hostility of mine to President Wilson.

"If he feels so badly about it, I am rather surprised his conduct should have been so uniformly cordial and kind in his various candidacies for office.

"I regret that Mr. Meredith has been imposed upon, and feel certain the attempt to inject discord into what is now a harmonious party in Missouri will fail."

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Grain futures closed at reduced levels on the Board of Trade here today. Wheat led the down turn, finishing 3-4 to 2 1-8 cents below Saturday's finish. The market was far from strong in a late rally on covering by shorts. Corn held strong until wheat hit a mid-day soft spot and then reacted to within fractional distance under the previous figures.

Lack of adequate support made wheat easily susceptible to selling pressure.

Local selling was based on wheat's weakened undertone, dropping corn from a higher opening. Little comment was heard regarding agitation for advanced prices.

Oats had a firm tone.

Provisions displayed easiness. Scattered buying by local cash houses offset heavy hog movement.

Mitchell Case Up to President This Week

Will Be Called Upon to Approve Sentence of Court Martial—May Lighten Punishment.

Washington, Jan. 11.—President Coolidge will be called upon to approve the court martial sentence of Col. William Mitchell this week, it was said at the war department today. The records of the famous Mitchell court martial have been in the hands of the judge-advocate for several weeks and are about to be relayed to the President by Secretary of War Davis.

The sentence of guilty is said to have been declared legal. It was popularly rumored here that recommendations would be made to the President to modify the sentence to allow Mitchell part of his pay for the five years for which he has been suspended from duty. There are also some who believe the sentence will be lightened from five to three years.

E. D. Arnold and Dick Strong of the Arnold-Strong Motor Company returned home Saturday night from Detroit, Mich., where they attended the convention of Dodge Brothers dealers. They had been gone a week.

Dr. James Talks at H. S. Assembly Today

Methodist Minister Speaks On Subject, "At The End Of The Trail."

Dr. C. C. James, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, addressed the student body of the Maryville High School at an assembly this morning, using as his subject, "At the End of the Trail."

"There is some consolation in looking forward to the end of the trail, but we should not be looking forward to the end of things as we should direct our attentions to the goal to be attainment at the end of the trail," he said.

"Along the trail some sidetrack," he said, "and never return to the main line agian. They decrease their mental efforts."

Dr. James said that a good brain is nothing without the proper understanding and use of morality.

K. C. A. C. Wins But Bearcats Show Surprising Skill, Speed and Power

Meet Messrs Aldrich, Burks, Berst, Blomfield, Joy, Ungles, Hedges, O'Banion, and Chick, the boys from the State Teachers College, who held the powerful Kansas City Athletic Club basketball team to a 32-18 game Saturday night in the dedication of the new College gymnasium.

These boys played brilliant basketball, were the first to score, and took Old Man Dope to the mat with both shoulders touching. They were scheduled to lose, but those who did the forecasting said that anywhere from 20 to 40 points would be the winning margin.

The Bearcats truly sprung a great surprise. They played basketball such as has never been seen on a local court by a College team. The Blue Diamonds were masters of the dribble, the pass, the feint, and the pivot. Everyone expected them to be. But who thought that the Bearcats—just a small college team—would do the same thing? Who thought that they would make just as many open-field dribbles; who thought that they could pivot through such men as Browning, Ackerman, and Wheat; who thought that their shots would swish through the meshes of the baskets almost as unerringly as those of their opponents? No one thought it, and everyone was agreeably surprised.

The Bearcats scored first. The game was two minutes old when Aldrich, lanky Bearcat captain, looped one from around the foul line. Bearcat rooters went wild.

Then Captain "Bun" Browning flipped a neat one from an angle, and a moment later, the yellow-thatcher "Tus" Ackerman gleaned a two-pointer from out in front of the goal. Then came another K. C. A. C. score.

"They're off now. It's going to be a landslide," one rooter commented.

But they weren't off now. Burks, Bearcat forward, whirled in a neat pivot and shot successfully.

In a monment or so, the score was 8 to 6 for the boys of blue. The Bearcats were holding far better than expectation. The half ended, 17 to 11.

The pace told on the Bearcats in the second semester. Their condition was not quite so good as that of the Blue Diamonds. They were not quite so "hot." But they played well—exceedingly well—and the winning margin was only 14 points.

Verne Engle, Kansas City substitute, sat in the press box. "We're having to work lots harder tonight than we did a week ago against Nebraska," he said.

Every Bearcat who played, played well. There were no stars. At least, if there were any, the magnitude of their brilliancy was so little greater than that of their fellows that it would be unfair to name them.

Aldrich, Burks, Berst, Bloomfield, and Joy started the game. Bloomfield and Joy started the game. Blomfield, Coach H. Frank Lawrence was getting ready to send in a substitute for him as the game ended.

Louis Menze, Kansas City Central High School coach, refereed the game. His work was par-excellent. H. L. Raines, as usual, kept time, and William L. Mapel was scorer.

The Kansas City boys arrived on the Wabash train Saturday night. They returned to Kansas City after the game in a motor bus.

About 1,300 persons attended the gave. Afterward, the gymnasium was open for inspection, and many persons took advantage of the opportunity to take a plunge in the new swimming pool.

First Pictures in Osage Murder Mystery

Here are the principals in the mysterious train of murder cases that have terrorized the Osage Indian tribe in Oklahoma. At the left is Mrs. John Kenny, white wife of a full-blooded Indian, whose shooting of Fred Tillman, Indian attorney, two months ago started the investigation. She was freed when she claimed he had hypnotized her—a priceeding, she said, that the murder ring adopted on all of its victims. In the center is her husband, John Kenny, whom she is seeking to divorce on the charge that the ring is turning him against her, and right is Harry Donaldson, foreman of the federal grand jury that is investigating.

Fred P. Hutchison Winning Promotion

Former Maryville Boy Now Is Chief of Standardization for Western Electric Co., at Kearny, N. J.

Fred P. Hutchison, former Maryville boy, has been "going up" rapidly in the employ of the Western Electric Co., according to last month's Western Electric News, the company's official publication.

Hutchison's latest promotion makes him chief of the standardization department, planning division, development branch, at the Kearny Works of the Western Electric Co., at Kearny, N. J. Prior to his promotion he had been supervising engineer of erection methods and tools at installation headquarters in New York.

Hutchison was graduated from the Maryville High School and also from the School of Engineering of the University of Missouri. In his early youth he was a carrier for the Democrat-Forum, serving subscribers in the business district. His two younger brothers, Will and Forrest, had this route later.

Upon his graduation from the University of Missouri, young Hutchison joined the Western Electric Co., in May, 1916, as a member of the student's course. He finished this course in April, 1917, and entered the development branch as methods engineer. He was promoted in July, 1919, to chief of section and in May, 1920, became chief of the tool, gauge and fixture section, installation methods department.

He was sent to San Francisco in August, 1922, as chief of the west coast planning and methods department, returning to the Hawthorne works, Chicago, in April, 1923, where he was appointed chief of machine switching, equipment installation methods department. He went to New York in September, 1923, as supervising engineer.

No More Pool Halls Says Albany Council

(Albany Capital).

At its recent meetings the Albany city council has voted against renewing licenses of the pool halls here. The license for the South Side hall expired two weeks ago, and the council voted adversely on the petition for renewal. At the meeting last Monday night the vote was against renewal of the hall on the West Side of the square, and the license there having expired on Tuesday night, it is also closed now.

Over in Nodaway County recently the county court has been refusing to grant renewals of pool hall licenses, and several towns over the state have also voted against granting city licenses.

BEARCATS TO MEET TARKIO

GAME WITH TRADITIONAL RIVAL TOMORROW NIGHT.

IS TARKS' FIFTH GAME

Coach H. Frank Lawrence To Take Squad of Twelve Men, Leaving Tomorrow Afternoon.

The State Teachers College basketball team will go to Tarkio tomorrow for a game tomorrow night with the traditional rivals, the Tarkio College quintet. Coach H. Frank Lawrence will take a squad of twelve men with him. They will leave sometime tomorrow afternoon, and will return after the game at night.

The game tomorrow night will be the fifth of the season for the Tarks. They have lost two—to Tabor College, 19 to 29; and to Cotner College, Bethany, Nebr., 21 to 25. Two games have been won from the Rock Port Legion team.

Coach Aubrey Pittinger has seven letter men on his squad this year. Five of these will start the game. They are: Martin and White, forwards; Nichols, center; and Kruse, captain, and Melchar, guards.

The game will start at 8:15 o'clock. Sam Dubin of Bedford, Ia., will referee. There will be a preliminary game at 7:15 o'clock between the Tarkio College second team and the Fairfax High School quintet.

Coach Lawrence will likely start Burks, Captain Aldrich, forwards; Berst, center; and Blomfield and Joy, guards. Ungles, Hedges and O'Banion are all quite sure of getting into the game, however.

Mrs. C. W. Michaelis and son, Ivan, of St. Joseph spent the week-end with the former's brother, Virgil Morris, and family, at Quitman.

Tolles and St. Pats To Play Conception

First Game In High School Gymnasium Is Called for 7:30 Tomorrow Night.

The Tolles basketball team will meet the Conception College quintet at the local high school gymnasium tomorrow night. In a preliminary game, the St. Patrick's School team will play the Conception Junior College five.

Following are the line-ups:

Tolles: Ellis and Ogden, forwards; Burks, center; Smith and Jameson, guards. St. Pat's: Myres and Lyons, forwards; Cummins, center; Doffing and Shriver, guards.

The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Radio Operator Sends Message to Honolulu

(Albany Capital).

Last Thursday morning at soon after 4 o'clock, Joe Davidson began calling for a Pacific coast station from his radio station 9-BWV, here at Albany, hoping to be able to relay to Honolulu a message to Mrs. Fritz Sohlmann, telling her of the death of her brother, Ernest McFall.

After calling a few minutes Davidson received an answer, saying: "You're fine business here, Joseph."

This message was signed HU-NPM. Uncertain as to the exact location of this station, Davidson inquired of the operator answering as to just where he was, and on being informed that it was Honolulu, he told the operator that he had an important message for delivery there.

The operator told Joe that he was busy with urgent messages just then, but would "see him in an hour."

About an hour and twenty minutes later Davidson again connected with this operator at the Pearl Harbor station; told him the message which he was trying to relay and was assured that this message would be promptly delivered.

The calling was on a wave length of 40 meters, but Mr. Davidson could hear the Pearl Harbor operator much plainer than he could some of the local stations. He has no doubt that the message was promptly delivered to Mrs. Sohlmann, and is awaiting letters to the relatives here confirming this belief.

This is a remarkable age in which to live.
